

Your 4 hour initial session

Experience the difference of next level healthcare

Because your health is everything, the investment of your time, energy and money in working with a healthcare partner needs to feel right for you. This is why we offer an initial 4-hour intake session ($980 AUD) to explore if we're the right fit. Here's what happens in this session:

To begin with, your practitioner will be in detective mode to understand all the pieces of your health puzzle and help identify the root of your health problem. This involves exploring your health history, diet, lifestyle and factors like existing test results to start joining the dots on your health picture.

During the session, your practitioner will formulate a health plan alongside you to tackle your health issues. With this, you'll start to get an idea of what the next 7 months could like and if you love what you see, you'll be excited to join our program (see overleaf).

Towards the end of your session, your health coach will join in, and will be guided by you and your practitioner to understand the support you'll need going forward. If working with us isn't a good fit right now, you'll walk away with a wealth of insights into your health, as well as treatment directions.

Ready to get started? Email our clinic support team at support@mfm.au. We look forward to taking the next step with you!

For international patients

Your 7 month program

Get clarity. Be supported. Feel the difference.

Get ready to finally reclaim your health with the support you need to feel better, through a program tailored to you. For seven months you get:

- As much guidance from your functional medicine practitioner as needed to direct your treatment
- Ongoing personalised health coaching support to create profound changes to your health
- Access to the world's best labs
- Personalised resources

We've guided thousands of patients back to better health through our revolutionary program. Watch our explainer video here

If you're ready to join our program after your initial fit assessment, your investment is $6820 AUD. This is the balance of the program fee ($7800 AUD) minus your initial consult fee ($980 AUD).

Testing and supplements will likely be required, and are in addition to our program fee. Some of our preferred laboratory partners may not ship test kits to all countries. For US & Canadian based patients, we are able to arrange testing through our US based labs.

Some tests may require you to source locally yourself and for other tests we may offer alternate (yet often less advanced) labs, many of which require you to order and pay for directly.

Your practitioner will always let you know what your testing options are alongside the program price, which typically range from $200-$1000 AUD per test.

Full payment of the fee is due on the day of signing up to the program.